Why Two Impact Assistants?

REDUNDANCY EQUALS STABILITY

Life happens. If one IA is unavailable due to a medical emergency, natural disasters, or unforeseen circumstances, the other keeps operations running smoothly. No scrambling, no service disruptions.

COMPREHENSIVE COVERAGE

Have one Impact Assistant work days, and the other work nights and weekends, and your clients will always have someone to talk to.

STRONGER PERFORMANCE & PRODUCTIVITY

Two IAs naturally create a system of accountability and motivation, improving efficiency, speed, and overall output.

REVENUE-GENERATING ROLES, NOT JUST EXPENSES

Two IAs can actively increase revenue by improving response times, intake efficiency, and client retention. They are ROI-positive investments that also save you a ton of time.

VERSATILITY ACROSS MULTIPLE ROLES

Two assistants can support you across diverse areas of your business that require different skills. You can have one IA handling admin, and the other handling your marketing.

Cost-Effective Staffing Solution

Even with two Impact Assistants, costs remain significantly lower than hiring one full-time stateside employee.

2 Impact Assistants = $4,000/month

- (No W2 employee expenses like benefits, taxes, or insurance)

1 Full-Time Stateside Employee = $6,500–$8,500/month

- Base Salary: $50,000–$70,000/year ($4,200–$5,800/month)
- Payroll Taxes: 7.65% (Social Security & Medicare)
- Health Benefits & Insurance: $500–$1,500/month
- Federal Unemployment: 6%
- Retirement Contributions: Typically 3-5% of salary
- Office Space & Equipment: Additional hidden costs

By choosing two IAs instead of one stateside employee, firms save $2,500 - $4,500/month while gaining expanded support, increased redundancy, and improved efficiency. All without dealing with HR headaches, taxes, or benefits management.

Defined Roles & Smarter Utilization

Two Impact Assistants allow for structured role division, maximizing productivity and ensuring no critical tasks fall through the cracks. Depending on your firm's specific needs, here are some examples for how you might structure their roles:

SCENARIO #1: FULL-TIME INTAKE & SUPPORT

- Day IA: Covers intake, outbound calls, and client communication during the day.
- Night IA: Takes over for full coverage nights and weekends, ensuring no missed calls and a consistent client experience.

SCENARIO #2: IMPROVING YOUR FIRM'S REPUTATION

- Primary IA: Proactively reaches out for client feedback and encourages Google reviews. Manages new client intake.
- Secondary IA: Monitors reviews, responds professionally, and manages reputation-building initiatives. Backup admin support.

SCENARIO #3: LEAD GENERATION & FOLLOW-UPS

- Primary IA: Handles outbound lead outreach, pre-qualifies prospects, and schedules consultations.
- Secondary IA: Tracks leads in the CRM, follows up with potential clients, and nurtures long-term opportunities.

SCENARIO #4: LEGAL ADMIN & CASE MANAGEMENT SUPPORT

- Primary IA: Assists with document preparation, case research, and e-filing.
- Secondary IA: Manages medical record retrieval, organizes case files, and provides billing and invoicing support.

By structuring roles strategically, two IAs create a balanced, highly efficient workflow that supports your firm's growth and client happiness.

Your Competitor Let Me Hire One...Why Won't You?

Some competitors may allow you to start with only one IA. This might sound appealing when you are first getting started, but based on our experience, this creates a series of headaches for you. If you hire only one impact assistant from a competitor, you'll see higher turnover, lower efficiency, and will find yourself re-hiring and re-training often.

TWO IAS CREATE A SUSTAINABLE SYSTEM THAT SETS YOUR FIRM UP FOR LONG-TERM SUCCESS.
